

The invention relates to meat industry, namely to production of cooked meat products. In the base of invention a task is set to create a method for production of cooked sausage "Myslyvska" (Hunting), due to shortening processing to produce high quality, tasty and nutrient all-meat product without additives and fillers.