

The proposed method for producing printed production for prize drawing consists in applying, to each copy of the printed production, the same pattern and the serial number of the copy, photographing the sheet area with the pattern, and storing the pattern photograph for the following identification of a prize number.