

A method for producing vodka providing for preparation of the graded material by mixing "Extra", rectified ethyl alcohol and prepared potable water, preparation and introducing sugar and edible acetic acid with a mass part of acid of 9 % in the prepared graded material, filtration and bottling, at that the acetic acid is preliminarily treated with chitosan at a mass ratio of 10:(1-2) respectively.