

A mechanism for the application of coatings of artillery barrels combines vaporizer, chamber, line for supply of gas carrier and vacuum system. As vacuum chamber gun barrel is used, the second vaporizer is disposed to the line of gas carrier, positive electrode is introduced inside the barrel, and the barrel is connected to negative electrode.