

The appliance for measuring flow rate of medium has straight bypass pipe installed in the main pipeline through which medium is transported, and indicator of heart flow rate meter placed in bypass pipe. The bypass pipe is tightly fixed in the wall of the main pipeline in such way that its upper end in which plug is fixed with sealing is placed outside of the pipeline, and installed to horizontal axial plane at angle.