

The invention relates to the field of magnetic recording, in particular, - to the field of indestructibility verification of analogue magnetic recording.

It can be used for instrument researches at carrying out criminalistic and forensic enquiries of sound-recording materials.