

A locking device (10) including a lock (11), and a lock support element (18) on which the lock (11) is mounted, the lock support element (18) including a face (24) defining a plane, and characterized by a lock mounting assembly (26) for mounting the lock (11) onto the lock support element (18) in a selectable angular orientation with respect to the plane of the face (24) of the lock support element (18).