

The invention relates to medicine, in particular to laser therapy, and can be used for the treatment of varicosity and thrombophlebitis as complication thereof. A method according to the invention provides for exposure of affected surface, projection of great vessels in sapheno-femoral triangle and RH6, RP8, V548, E1, R1 and R2 bioactive points in popliteal space to low intensity helio-neon laser.