

Preformed compositions in shaped form comprising polymer blends, and the use of these preformed compositions in shaped form to seal apertures are disclosed. In certain embodiments, the preformed compositions are electrically conductive and are capable to shield EMI/RFI radiation. A polymer blend contains polysulfide component and a component based on polythioether.