

The invention relates to medical industry, namely to a method for obtaining antihemolytic preparation from the bovine brain for medical use.