

The insurance product vendor and automated system to render insurance services relates to automated system with insurance product vendors. The automated system includes insurance product vendors; each of them is connected through Internet network or in-house network with the central server. The automat comprises an insurance carrier information visualization tool, a client's document information readout tool, a user data input medium, a money vault, a payments settlement unit, a form vault, insurance document issue unit and an automatic data processing unit. The proposed insurance product vendor and automated system to render insurance services provides high-speed client servicing. The client servicing from the moment of decision making by him to the moment of obtaining of ready-made document takes 3...5 minutes. Such system provides wide choice of insurance products, speed of servicing, opportunity to install machines in desired places, unity in contract base control.