

A method for bird skin tanning lies in the fact that bird is decorticated in layer, after that technological operations are sequentially carried out, in particular: the skin is ungreased, feathers are removed from the skin, fleshing is isolated from the skin, the skin conservation is carried out, the skin is extended on a frame for drying, the skin is tanned, after that skin is shifted off the frame, flesh side is finally peeled, and the fur side is crashed, staked, and pillled.