

A press of automatic die-cutter is designed for implementation at the enterprises specializing in the manufacture of cartons for packaging food and industrial products. It consists of a frame, a flat cutting form on a fixed plate, a movable pressure plate driven by a lever wedging mechanism having rockers and arms attached to an eccentric mechanism consisting of an eccentric, rocker rigidly connected thereto and pivotally connected to a crank.