

The invention relates to a rack (1) for a switchgear cabinet arrangement, comprising a main frame (2) that includes four vertical profiled struts (3) and eight horizontal profiled struts (3), four of said profiled struts (3) forming a rectangular rack frame (4) having a constant cross-section; the rack frame (4) has a peripheral receptacle (7) which is formed by at least two sides (5, 6) of the profiled struts (3) and which is open towards an external side (A) of the rack frame (4); the disclosed rack is characterized in that a rectangular additional frame (8) is inserted into the receptacle (7).