

Method for obtaining ingots of heat-resistant alloy on the basis of nickel includes melting and pouring liquid material to ceramic mould placed in liquid aluminum.