

The direct current cable provided with light sources, arranged as a band made of elastic dielectric rubber with light sources mounted to its base – luminodiodes and layers of current-conducting rubber.