

A method for the treatment of leather half-finished product by retanning and filling with use of mineral filling material of bentonite activated with dispersant in the aqueous medium in which as dispersant it is used the organic acid salt, preferably sodium formate at an amount of 10...15 % of bentonite mass.