

The proposed system for measuring gas flow rate contains a measuring pipeline section, gate valves, quick disconnect pipe connector, a gas filter, and a gas meter. The measuring pipeline section is coupled with the main gas pipeline via the gate valves. The gas meter is installed between the gate valve and the filter and coupled with the measuring pipeline section by the pipe connector.