

A device for obtaining metallic fibers by extrusion of granules with a rod cantilevered to the press die consists of a container, a matrix, a press die and a rod. The rod is cantilevered to the press die by the back part.