

A soapbox contains a casing and a grate on legs installed therein. The casing is formed by side walls, one of which has a means for fastening soapbox and a bottom with a means for fixing grate legs in the form of elastic element made with possibility of springing in vertical direction.