

The utility model relates to building and can be used at construction of continuous structures at sinking bases.