

A method of garnet enrichment includes grinding initial material, crushing to 1 mm, gravity concentration, magnetic separation, application of dry magnetic separation, isolation of concentrate, intermediate product and waste, electrical separation of intermediate product, return of nonconducting product for gravity concentration.