

Mechanism of transverse displacement of excavator equipment relates to road-building machines, in particular to machines of type of single-bucket hydraulic excavators on basis of wheel tractor and can be used for implementation of earth-moving and loading operations.