

The proposed transducer for converting angle of rotation of a radar antenna into the digital code of the angle sine contains a potentiometer angle sine transducer, an analog-to-digital converter, an output signal converter for the sine transducer, an additional analog-to-digital converter for a reference signal, and a unit for interfacing the analog-to-digital converters to a computer.