

A process for production of continuous fibers from rocks relates to the sphere for production of fiber from rocks, for example from basalt, which is processed into yarn and roving fabric and bonded fabrics.