

Liquid lifting device consists of wind catcher that is connected to liquid supply tube with opening in side wall where suction tube is hermetically fit, with screw turns on its outer surface, and in the side wall of suction tube openings are provided.