

Method for dismantling powered support includes extraction in turns of powered support units, delivery by dismantling working and support of ceiling in place of extraction. First one extracts one most remote support unit with installing it in such way that it can move by own motion along dismantling working. Turn and extraction of support unit being dismantled are performed under ceiling of that unit.