

Under-rail pad relates to rail transport, in particular to elements of rail track fastening, and can be used for decrease of dynamical loads of mobile stock on reinforced-concrete ties.