

A jar-washing machine contains a housing, baths, a transport system, units of loading and unloading of jars, spray washers. A conduit of water supply for rinsing the jars is equipped with a system of recovery of thermal energy of discharge water, which contains a pump, a plate-type heat exchanger, a water-steam injector and a temperature control system.