

A device for determination of friction properties of thread has a bobbin holder mounted in the body, thread guide, slide with fixed holder and indicator, slide guide with drive, metal infinite belt that goes round the pulleys with support, this carries spring-loaded contact, device for thread drawing, support rollers, measuring scale. In addition it has two movable pulleys axles of which with fixation devices and indicators are placed in through horizontal slot of the trolley, thread guide with fixation device and indicator that are placed in through vertical slot of the slide, horizontal and vertical scales.