

Method for determination of wood resistance to abrading relates to mechanical testing of materials.