

The advertising and/or information method where the telecommunication network subscriber the specified message from offered voice advertising messages selects informing operator of a short text message sending service, service operator sets the selected voice message to its mobile communication number. The advertising and/or information method where the operator an Internet content-provider is and the choice and voice message being made through technical means.