

A method for correction of lymph membrane-protective capacity, at which the influence of physical factor on processes for lymph producing is made by mechanical periodic fluctuations on body muscular tissues from the electrodynamic vibrator on localized body site at frequency within the limits of from 50 up to 100 fluctuations per 1 minute with their amplitude from 1 up to 3 mm inclusive.