

A device for cleaning feather-down material comprises a body, in which in-series connected a bunker of loading with a nozzle for air supply, a tank cleaning, a tank for collecting the clean material, a compartment for collection of waste and a compartment for air pumping are located. The external casing part of compartment for waste collection is equipped with a safety valve.