

A device for introducing ultrasonic vibrations into the melt of a welding bath comprises a magnetostrictive transducer and a waveguide. The waveguide is tubular, in which a focusing system for focusing laser radiation is coaxially and rigidly fixed.