

The utility model relates to metallurgical machine-building, in particular to transport devices in for continuous-casting machines and to equipment of rolling mills.