

The device for sound advertising and/or provision of information relates to advertising medium of provision of information and can be used in places of throng, for instance in motor transport stops, in trade and exhibition complexes, in the town streets, in the performance of mass events.