

The apparatus code access key for USB Flash storages for access restriction to information recorded on a non-volatile memory chip to be mounted, for instance in the USB Flash storage body comprises one or more series connected SW rotor, rotary or multiway type switches located after USB connector in the V BUS or GND network device. Herewith one of contacts in the switch is moving and closes contacts; one of them is code and presets a code number to switches. The switches have two positions: “code mode” and “customary mode”.