

The portable electronic terminal function-cash register comprises a central processor, a battery charging controller-internal power supply unit, a central processor connected with the display, a keyboard, a thermal printer mechanism, a real time clock, interfaces and nonvolatile fiscal memory, a terminal block, an additional software processor, an additional processor connected with a central processor as well as with nonvolatile memory, a wireless modem, external and built-in antenna.