

A tubular heater that has body with tube plate to which flue tube and a bunch of smoke tubes are connected, smoke tube and branch pipes for supply and discharge of water. The body in the upper section is made open.