

A method for preventing remodeling of myocardium is based on the use of quercetin as the substance of plant origin.