

A method for physiotherapeutic treatment of epilepsy in the children comprises the use of physiotherapeutic procedures, namely three-dimensional pneumopressing applied to craniosacral area as a supplement to the medicamentous treatment.