

A method for making a mixed feed for poultry provides for dosing prescribed components, portioning thereof, mixing and pelletizing the portions obtained. The prescribed components are supplemented with an extruded feed additive.