

A needle of a knitting machine has a stem with a hook and a latch at its one end and a shank with a butt at the other end. The shank has an additional butt.