

A clamping device of a tool of multifunctional diagnostic and surgical robotic system of a surgical table with possibility of information and computer control comprises a body with a drive, a rigid bar of a clamp with middle and end parts, a rod. End parts of a rigid bar of the clamp are located at the same angle to its middle part.