

A lock that includes body with face rod, horizontal bars of lock mechanism placed in the body, at that over the face rod an anti-break rod is installed, this is arranged in U-like form with parallel surfaces with different lengths and has openings for passage of horizontal bars of locking mechanism and openings for fixation on the body of the lock, at that thickness of anti-break rod is from 1.5 to 10 mm.