

An absorbing column comprises the case filled with sorbent with attached bottoms as flanges. The column is equipped with two or more sorbents and cylindrical insert for their holding.