

A device for closing hatches of gondola cars comprises hatch lifts with grippers connected to compressor units. The gripper is pivotally connected to a rod of a pneumatic cylinder of hatch lift and moves with the rod under the action of compressed air supplied to the air cylinder from the compressor unit.