

A method for integral evaluation of equilibrium of oxidation-antioxidation processes in erythrocytes includes determination of malonic dialdehyde content in erythrocytes, total peroxidase activity, with calculation of integral index that characterizes state of equilibrium of oxidation-antioxidation processes in erythrocytes.