

A charging device of supercapacitor-accumulator system comprises a comparison device based on comparator and power switch. The device is additionally comprises transistor amplifier which input is connected to the output of the comparison device, and output is connected to input of the power switch. The circuit comprises three isolation high-power diodes.